The background of the slide is a photograph of a university campus. On the left, there is a large, multi-story brick building with a prominent red-tiled roof featuring several dormer windows. To the right of this building is a modern structure with large glass windows and a green-tinted facade. In the foreground, a calm body of water, likely a pond or lake, reflects the buildings and the sky. A large, leafy tree stands on the right side of the frame, partially obscuring the modern building. The sky is blue with some light clouds.
